The IG met to discuss agendas for SCC-XXII and for the 1982 ABM Treaty Review.

With respect to SCC-XXII, the IG approved the SCC Working Group recommendation that standard notifications be provided, that the U.S. not raise ICBM shelters, and that the U.S. pursue a constructive dialogue with the Soviet side concerning concurrent activity of air defense and ABM components, seeking an agreement on the so-called "standard of conduct". (This decision is subject to confirmation from the Joint Staff that such a standard would be acceptable from the standpoint of U.S. programs.) The U.S. Commissioner is to repeat his statement of SCC-XXI concerning the Biological Weapons Convention, drawing on the points contained in Option 3 of the working group summary for support if necessary. With regard to Soviet mobile ICBM activity (the SS-16 issue), the SCC Working Group is directed to prepare a decision memorandum summarizing the options, for the IG Chairman to forward to the President's National Security Advisor.

With respect to the ABM Treaty Review, the IG approved the Working Group recommendation that the Commissioner make reference to continuing U.S. concerns regarding Soviet Large, Phased-Array Radars. OSD is to undertake further work concerning the implications of technical criteria for distinguishing among ABM, ATBM, and air defense systems. The Working Group is directed to coordinate language on the offense/defense relationship.

Finally, OSD will develop for the Working Group a paper on concrete cooperative measures on monitoring and verification. A final decision on the U.S. approach to this issue will be deferred pending receipt of the paper and referral to a higher level.
